6 Eyeofthetiger was very promising as a 2- and 3-year-old. In his comeback he finished strongly showing 11.4/1000 meter. His form should be clearly improved and even if the opposition is experienced, he should have a good chance. 3 Isseymiyake Secret was second in the Danish Derby behind Icebreaker two years ago. His career hasn't really been as expected since then, but the six-year-old has been strong of late. 7 Dats Tore has previously been matched in much tougher company. 2 Lightning Stride comes from a tough race on French soil.

3 Kings Wizard got a perfect trip from behind the leader and an opening at the end in his debut and looked splendid over the finish. The Nuncio son should be even better now. Good chance with a similar effort. 4 Gordon Gekko has acted a bit immature, but shown quite good talent. Barefoot behind for the first time, which usually is an advantage for a Googoo Gaagaa offspring. 7 Henessi Otan won the debut convincingly and finished strongly in the last race. Speedy. 8 Japiro Power has looked nice but he has not impressed. Maybe not quite ready to win yet. Place bet.

3 Yalla Yalla impressed in the debut when he won easily despite quick pace. He quickly followed up with another win before finally being defeated by promising Fleetfoot S.S. The five-year-old is a very quick starter and has a good chance. 4 Picture Brodda is very fast from the start and should be close to top form with two runs under his belt. 1 Golden Jubilee S followed well from the lead last time and could be even improved by that run under his belt. 8 Alf Red has shown nice resources at the beginning of his career and is improving with every start.

8 Yantra Slave Cal has shown top form lately and put in strong finishes in much tougher company than this one. She can do it tough and has the right attitude. 3 Tornado O.C. was tested in the lead in the last race and fought well. The form is on the way up and he faces nice conditions. 4 Epicure D.E. looked brilliant to score the latest win, which was taken over this short distance - which he likes a lot. 1 Laban Lagö faces perfect conditions. Quick starter and he should not be overlooked. 10 Funny Money is going down in class.

11 Clean Table has a tricky number over the short distance, but owns very good capacity for this class. Seven wins in 19 starts speaks for itself. He is now returning after a layoff and seems to be well prepared. 1 McIIroy won comfortably from the lead in the last race and looks to have found good form again. He is a quick starter, faces perfect conditions and should get a nice trip. 2 Nasha faces optimal conditions, is a quick starter and should be considered. 3 Proffs is a bit up and down but goes down in class this time.

4 Staro Thunder Road has been heavily backed in the V85 on several occasions without being successful. However, two starts back he put in a strong effort behind against the capable Kaboom and showed fine form. This long distance is a definite plus and the opposition is suitable. 11 Flame has won three of eight starts for new trainer Bergh. The capacity is good enough, but this distance is a bit of a question mark. 2 Mister Who was matched over the long distance as a 3-year-old and strength is his main weapon. 5 Glorious Art has shown great capacity but the horse has not competed for a long time.
